While we know that many clients referred for court ordered sex offender treatment are male, there are females referred for treatment as well.

Individual treatment between client and therapist is necessary, but we also know that group therapy provides a space for a good deal of treatment to occur.

NewPath is happy to announce a sex offense specific group for female offenders. While we will offer this treatment opportunity to existing clients, the group is open to clients who are receiving their primary sex offense treatment at other agencies.

The Female Treatment Group is held from 1:00 – 3:30 pm on Thursdays. For those joining group therapy sessions from other agencies, we will work closely with the primary provider and with probation regarding the group therapy experience.

Please contact us if you have a female client referral for this group or you are looking for an agency to which to refer your court ordered women.
